Tenor swings. Had electric action before 1924, possibly original; re-electrified in 1955.
The Meneely/Troy foundry claimed that it was the sound of this chime which caused that firm to be selected to make the very similar chime for the Cadet Chapel at West Point, NY, in 1919. Originally an Irish parish; each bell carries the name of an Irish saint.

*Remarks:
Reports of the original chime being destroyed by fire are incorrect; the bells survived an explosion and fire that destroyed the body of the building in 1888, & were not rehung until 1926. The original bells were the only Meneely/Watervliet set ever hung for change-ringing. After the first enlargement, the chiming mechanism was above the ringing room, so it must have been Ellacombe-style. Electric keyboard by Verdin added in 1987 without removing chimestand.

BUFFALO USA - NY

McShane supplied a peal of 6 bells to a Catholic church here, no later than 1890; weights 5028, 3408, 2568, 2052, 1505, 1064 lbs.

 Original bells cast 1790-1890; an 18th
 bell was at the Harvard Business School; all were part of what was once perhaps as many as 34 bells in the Danilov Monastery, and were rescued from the Bolsheviks by an American businessman. Rung here for the last time at Commencement in June 2008, then taken down for return to the Danilov Monastery in exchange for an equivalent set of new bells cast in 2007 by Vera LLC, Voronezh, Russia, gift of a Russian businessman. Practice on set of 6 (or more) bells in basement of

*Schedule:
 Daily at 0801, 1202, 1801, 2101.
 *Remarks:
 Added semitones: sharp 4th & flat 7th.
 Chimestand removed, presumably on first electrification in 1967 (which was electric keyboard + roll player);
 locally-built practice chimestand
 remains in the tower.
 New MIDI keyboard prepares music for automatic play; no direct play.
 New bells may be dated 1997, but were installed in 1998.
 Before the expansion, this chime was often claimed to duplicate that at West Point, NY; actually, the same foundry made seven chimes of this size and weight--all survive.

 *Remarks: Chimestand originally had pedals for all "white" notes (C G 12); probably removed when an organ builder added electro-pneumatic auxiliary action which operates through chimestand.
 This is the heaviest and second-largest American-made chime, besides being one of only three such that are fully chromatic.
 June 2013: Church being demolished;
 bells reportedly in storage.

*Remarks:
The chime now at St.Teresa of Avila (see CINCINNATI - STT) was originally here; it was cast by George L. Hanks of this city in 1851 and dedicated on Jan.11, 1852. A tower clock by Francis Stein (or Steine) was connected to those bells by July 4, 1852, and played tunes automatically at 3-hour intervals. The clock was replaced in the 1930s by Verdin; the chime was sold and moved in 1955. The hour bell cast by Hanks in the same year (1851) remains, and was rededicated with the new chime on Feb.24, 1957. Keyboard and autoplay action replaced during general overhaul in 2010.

 *Remarks:
 Original bells from Niles Works,
 Cincinnati, dated 1868 (one mid), 1869
 (3 basses and one mid) or undated (mid and 2 trebles), with added semitone of flat 7th plus anonymous treble (probably a Vanduzen recasting of a Niles bell); Vanduzen added treble and sharp 4th, with chimestand which remains in tower, disconnected. Original chime may have been 10 bells, including an older single bell; if so, one of the 1907 Vanduzen bells must be a recasting of it.

Sat-Sun 1010, 1200, 1800;
each for 15 min.; all during school term. Irregular out of term; see online calendar (www.chimes.cornell.edu) for these and many special occasions.

Tower open to visitors 10 minutes before each concert.

*Remarks:
The bell added in 1869 is the clock (or hour) bell. It and the largest of the original 9 bells were not recast in 1908. In the 1982 work, Paccard added 1 treble and replaced 1 (D#); playing clavier then had the first 17 notes duplicated between manual and pedal; practice clavier had 18 notes, duplicating the arrangement of the keyboard installed in 1970. Total renovation of tower and chime in 1998-99: Meeks & Watson replaced both Paccards and added G# treble (all cast by M&W to Meneely profile), retuned 17 assorted Meneelys, added a recycled Meneely bass D# (keyboard pitch); and supplied new frame, keyboards and transmission. The oldest, largest and most regularly played chime on any American campus.

*Remarks:
 Original octave removed after one bell cracked. Present octave cast by Naylor, Vickers & Co., Sheffield,

England, in 1860 and installed in 1861;
 they are made of E. Riepe's patent cast steel, and bear conventional bead
 lines and inscriptions (including serial numbers).
 The flat 7th, added to the chime some years later, was cast for this church
 by Lester & Pack in 1768. Chimestand keys are shaped like flat paddles, and all are identical, so it probably was made locally when flat 7th was added; original action may have been a taut-rope rack.
 Tenor formerly swung.

Originally had a second set of clappers with lignum vitae inserts, intended to produce a different sound, and operated by changing pivot point of chimestand levers. That action was removed during repairs in late 1970s.

*Remarks:
 The church was largely destroyed by fire (arson) on 1 November 2001; the largest bell fell and was cracked; two others were slightly cracked by the fire; the chimestand was destroyed. All 10, plus the 1813 service bell by Mears of London, were removed for repair and refurbishing. The church was rebuilt, using recovered materials to the maximum extent.
 Nov.2003: bells re-installed (three recast, tenor by Whitechapel and the others by MW&Co to Meneely profiles).
 Jan.2004: new chimestand by Peter Allen is done; reconstruction continues.

Jul.2005: rededicated.
 One further bell later cracked as a result of undiscovered fire damage, and a replacement was cast by M&W.

*Remarks:
 Original octave by Thomas (I) Mears. The 1845 recastings (#1,2,4,7 of 8), by C&G Mears, were installed in 1846; the 1846 (or 1848?) recasting of the tenor was possibly installed in 1849, along with new flat 7th semitone. Addition of 1909 is the treble; addition of 2006 is sharp 4th semitone. Until Aug.2006, the original bells (and their replacements) were hung in their original change-ringing fittings, though without wheels, and so were deemed "unringable", though they could be played by electric chime system. Aug-Oct.2006: restored (by McShane) as a pure chime, augmented with a new sharp 4th semitone, and relocated above the new ring of 12 in the same tower (see -TC/2 under Rings).

 Cambridge (Westminster) quarters, hour strike on the lowest quarter bell (second-largest), from Seth Thomas 3-train tower clock (No.1234, Dec.1903), fully restored in 2005, wound weekly.
 *Remarks:
 Bells purchased for the College in 1902, but not installed until 1904; their whereabouts from 1894 to 1902 is not documented. They were reputed to have been originally (May-Oct.1893) at the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, Illinois, USA; more likely they were made as an identical match. Added semitone is flat 7th. Original chimestand was removed 10 to 15 years after installation, and perhaps sent to Berkeley; but no evidence of its location remains. Some bits of an old electric action remain, but the six non-clock bells are unused (except for the swinging tenor).

 *Remarks:
 Chimola (hemispherical bells), played by automatic drum from tower clock; all made by J.Smith & Sons, Clerkenwell Steam Clock Works, London, England, presumably in 1901 (when the tower was added to the c.1889 building). Chromatic except for lowest one and highest two semitones; two hammers per bell; tenor and treble carry the clock-maker's inscription (undated), with lettering style that indicates Warner made the bells. One original drum remains; a new one was made about 1970 by Horace Abbott when he restored the clock.
 Park open to town residents only, except with purchase of day pass.

 No ringing when temperature/wind-chill
 is below -25°C.
 *Remarks:
 One source states some G&J bells installed as late as 1958, with 3 bells by Taylor, 1956. Another source reports this as the last ring cast by G&J, though installed by Taylor. A third source reports all designed by G&J, which cast 3 basses, while Taylor cast 5 trebles. A fourth source confirms this and adds that the three Taylor trebles are dated 1956 while the two Taylor mids are undated, but all bear the G&J name and all were tuned by G&J. The transcription of the G&J foundry records shows the three basses as 1955, three mids as "n.d."
 and two trebles as 1952.

*Remarks:
 Cast in 1764 by Lester & Pack (Whitechapel). Taken by the British in 1782, returned in 1783 after Mears & Chapman (Whitechapel) recast 2 which had been cracked in transit; 2 recast in 1828 (or 1830) by Eubank and Cordes after breaking; all recast in 1866 after war damage; tenor recast in 1879 or 80 after cracking in use as a fire alarm. Unringable for over a century except by chiming apparatus (the first chimestand in North America, made locally in 1805); original clock by Ainsworth Thwaites of London restored and bells retuned, rehung and restored for ringing 1992-3; rededicated & first peal rung on 4 July 1993. Clock strikes quarters with pattern Do-La-Ti-Sol, repeated incrementally at each quarter (double ting-tang); supposedly this was modelled on the long-vanished second clock chime of the Royal Exchange, London, England.

 Christ Church (Episcopal), first bldg.
 A ring of 6 bells was cast by Thomas Mears of London (Whitechapel) in 1804,
 and hung in the new steeple of Christ Church in 1805. In the War of 1812, they were taken down for safety and hidden. After the war, only three were recovered from the hiding place, and were rehung. In 1835/6 they were moved to a new building, CC's second.
 In 1871, the congregation again moved,
 with at least one bell; the old bldg.
 was renamed Church of the Messiah.
 In 1904, the Church of the Messiah was destroyed by fire, but some metal was recovered from the bell which hung there at the time. In 1908, Christ Church bought a chime of 13 bells from the McShane foundry; at that time the remaining Mears bells were returned to the Church of the Messiah. In 1920, the Messiah congregation moved to its present location on Harford Road; in 1922, a Mears bell plus bell metal recovered from the 1904 fire plus a bell formerly in St.Andrew's Chapel on Harford Road were cast into a new bell by McShane. It is not clear what happened to the other two recovered Mears bells.
 The McShane chime in the third bldg.
 of Christ Church is under 'Chimes'.

DORCHESTER USA - SC
 St.George's Anglican Church (distant predecessor of St.George's Episcopal Church, Summerville)
 A single bell was installed in 1751 and later augmented to a ring of 4. The bells were dispersed when the church
 disbanded after the Revolutionary War, and all of them have subsequently been recast or destroyed. The stump of the original tower remains standing.

*Remarks:
 Bells invoiced out of Whitechapel in 1908, but apparently dated 1909; originally hung for ringing. After removal from St.Michael (now demolished) they were bought for Trinity, which hung them as a chime at its former location. When Trinity moved to its present location, the bells and tower were brought along but not reinstalled; in early 2005, the bells were sold to Verdin and the tower was sold separately to another church nearby.

 - Great Bells -

NEWPORT, Kentucky, USA
 World Peace Bell, 73000 lb.
 The heaviest swinging bell in the world when cast by Paccard on 12/11/98 (at Nantes, France); brought here by barge with great fanfare in midsummer 1999.

PHILADELPHIA, Pennsylvania, USA
 The Founder's Bell hangs atop the PNB-First Union Bank Building next to City Hall, 27 stories above Broad Street. (Previously this was the Philadelphia National Bank Building.) It was cast in 1926 by Gillett & Johnston, and weighs 34776 lbs, note D. Dedicated to John Wanamaker, it commemorates the sesquicentennial of the U.S.A., and was intended to weigh one [short] ton for each decade. Originally it hung atop John Wanamaker's department store; it was moved to its present location (then Wanamaker's new men's store) in the 1930s. It strikes daily at noon.

MARKHAM, Ontario, Canada
 Cathedral of the Transfiguration
 In 1986, Paccard made three swinging bells, the largest named Etienne (bell 32000 lb, gross swinging 19000 kg), the middle named Anne (bell 12804 lb, gross swinging 10000 kg), the smallest named Daniel (bell 10582 lb, gross swinging 6000 kg).

MEXICO CITY, Mexico
 Metropolitan Cathedral
 "Santa Maria de Guadalupe," the largest of five bells in the southwest tower, was cast in 1791 at about 13 tonnes.
 "Santa Maria de Ascension", the largest of six bells in the southeast tower, was cast in 1573 at about 7 tonnes.

CAZADERO, California, USA
 Odiyan Buddhist Retreat Center
 In 1988, Petit & Edelbrock (Germany) cast a Western-shaped bell of 27500 lbs, which is used here as an Oriental temple bell.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, USA
 St.Francis de Sales RC Church

Woodburn Avenue and Madison Road
A bell of 27390 lbs, note E-flat, the largest ever cast in the USA, was made in 1895 by the van Duzen foundry of this city. Named "Joseph", or "Big Joe", it is hung for swinging, but was rung thus only once. It is now tolled annually by a chime hammer.

MONTREAL, Québec, Canada

Whether it survives is unknown.

MILWAUKEE, Wisconsin, USA
City Hall Bell Tower
"Solomon Juneau", hour bell, cast by the local bellfoundry of G.Campbell & Sons in 1895, weighs 10 or 11 tons.

PUEBLA DE ZARAGOZA, Mexico
Immaculate Conception Cathedral
The largest of several bells was cast in 1729, and weighs about 8.5 tons.

TROIS-RIVIERES, Quebec, Canada
Cathedral
A bell of 16384 lbs was cast by Paccard
in 1912.

NOTRE DAME, Indiana, USA
Basilica of the Sacred Heart
Notre Dame University
A bell of about 7 tons was cast by Bollée in 1867; not connected to the 1856 carillon in the same tower
(see under Carillons above).

CHARLOTTE, North Carolina, USA
American Freedom Bell Located at the Charlotte Museum of History, and weighing about 7 tons, this bell was cast by Eijsbouts about 1999.

Columbian Liberty and Peace Bell
Made by Meneely/Troy in 1893, this 13000
lb bell was displayed at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago, hung dead and low to the ground. It disappeared after the Exposition.

CAMBRIDGE - HU, Massachusetts, USA
